

Danilo Caivano, Professor of computer science at the Department of Informatics of the University of Bari Aldo Moro where he also obtained a PhD in Software Engineering, consultant for companies and organizations especially in the field of research and development projects. Head of SERLAB research group (\), Director of the short master in cyber security, he contributed to the creation of The Hack Space, the cyber security laboratory of the University of Bari. Member of the Board of Director of the Southern Italy Chapter Project Management Institute and coordinator of the PMI-SIC Academy. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Apulian Information Technology District and he is the rector's delegate for European Projects.

His research interests include Software Engineering, Project Management and Cyber Security. He is author of more than 110 publications. He was Industrial Track Chair of the International Conference on Human Computer Interaction 2020 (INTERACT 2020), Track Chair of the International Conference on the Quality of Information and Communications Technology – Track: Quality Aspects in Security & Privacy (QUATIC 2019), Industry Track Chair of the International Conference on Program Comprehension (ICPC) 2018, Industry Track Chair of the International Symposium on Empirical Software Engineering and Measurement (ESEM) 2016, Financial Chair of the International Conference on Global Software Engineering (ICGSE) 2013, Program Chair of the International Conference on Product Focused Software Development and Process Improvement (PROFES) 2011.