

Professor Angelo Vacca was born in Bari on February 16, 1956. He graduated in Medicine and Surgery in July 1980 with 110/110 cum laude. In 1983, he obtained the specialization in "General Hematology" with 50/50 cum laude, and in 1993 the specialization in "Internal Medicine" with marks 50/50 cum laude, at the University of Bari Aldo Moro. From 1983 to 1986, he attended the "Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research" in Lausanne, holding the position of researcher at the University of Lausanne.

In the academic year 1985-86, following a competition, he was admitted to the three-year PhD course in Clinical Immunology at the University of Bari, which he attended until the academic year 1987 - 88. In June 1989, holds the title of Doctor of Research. Since November 1992, he has been an associate professor of Internal Medicine at the University of Bari. In December 2002, he was declared eligible for the role of Full Professor of Internal Medicine. Since 1 January 2005, he has held the position of Full Professor of Internal Medicine at the University of Bari. Since 1st January 2005, he is Director of the U.O.C. of Clinical Immunology and Allergology of the University of Bari. Since 1st November 2010 he is Director of the U.O.C. of Internal Medicine "Guido Baccelli", of the same University. He is the author of about 400 publications in international journals. His scientific activity concerns studies of immunopathology and oncology.